THE SYMBOLIC COVER DESIGN

by Joseph Klimek

The Ancients used the “Tree of Life” as a symbol of ever increasing growth. This has inspired us to select for our cover design the Young Branches of a Tree and Three Leaves symbolising Pupils, Parents and Teachers, united in close Friendship to further the growth of the School.

Headmaster's Message

THOUGHTS FROM THE QUADRANGLE

Apart from the introduction of queer hair styles by some boys and requests for variations of uniform by girls there has not been a great deal of evidence of unusual behaviour by the bulk of the student population. Of course, the way they dance is quite strange to some of us, but may be all three variations are part of the changing fashions.

It appears students are not as dependent on home life as their parents were and consequently more independent. But to-day just how dependent on home life are most of to-day's parents?

Our students are quite capable of thinking for themselves and on a few occasions some sections of the school have expressed themselves by making requests but, the student body in general has been commendably restrained.

Some fifteen year old girls certainly broke new ground when they appealed for the inclusion of sex education in their Health Education Course.

In the realm of self government only one student, over a number of years, advocated a forum or council for the expression of student opinion and then only with a spasmodic and unimpressive approach. In September over forty Fifth Formers, following some encouragement, made approaches for the formation of a student's representative council to discuss matters that directly affect students. It is not intended that this Council displace the prefect-body, which is drawn from only Form 6, but represent a much wider range of pupils. Admittedly all rules and arrangements should be examined periodically in case changes are advisable. Constructive criticism properly presented should not be discouraged. If changes are inadvisable the examiners gain from the critical examination.

To-day's youth faces much publicity and more than a fair share of adverse criticism. The generation gap is stressed but records show that even one thousand years ago many of the older generation could not understand the behaviour or the interests of the youth of the day.

Modern youth are able to think for themselves; they possess initiative and are less dependent on their elders. They constitute a considerable proportion of the population but in many communities their peer-group needs are discounted or overlooked. Is society neglecting its most valuable asset?

Editorial

Education today, with all its problems and complexities, provides a challenge for all of us — parents, teachers and students. Perhaps it is as students that we first begin to seriously face up to a series of challenges, large and small, in our everyday lives, and to realize the value of satisfaction gained by knowing we have made a sincere and substantial effort at success. Examinations, projects, essays and problems form some of these challenges, and from other fields come those of sporting, social and community affairs, and of the myriad other activities helping to fill the life of the student.

The task of compiling this magazine also came to me as a challenge: to present the achievements (that is, the answers of the individuals of Ryde High School to their challenges) as accurately as possible. The resulting magazine you see before you is truly the product of the individuals of Ryde High. It reflects the degree to which this particular group of students, parents and teachers has faced its challenge.

Particular thanks must go to the members of the magazine committee for their persistent efforts in collecting magazine contributions, and to all those who provided these contributions. Finally, mention must be made of the invaluable help and advice in organizing the magazine provided by Mr. Hall, and by Mr. Hearn, editor during the previous two years.

Captain's Message

We are often told that our teenage years are the most impressionable ones of our lives — the years in which our character will develop, our opinions will form, and important decisions will be made; in other words, that our whole life's course will be governed to a large extent by our environment during youth. And yet, those of us in Form 6 have spent almost six of these years at Ryde High. It is evident that this school has had, and will have, a very profound effect on the lives of all of us. It has been a school life which has been perhaps the largest single factor in the moulding of the characters of each of us. Most of us have probably never been aware of this before.

However, now we are suddenly faced with the stark realisation that, within a very short time, the environment of our school, the environment in which we have lived a large portion of our lives over the past six years, the environment which has formed an integral part of our personality, will be cut off from us, and we will be thrust alone into some situation, to which we will have to re-adapt. We will no longer have things handed to us as we have at school. Our responsibilities will increase. In other words we will be faced with a new kind of life.

In order to cope successfully with this new environment we will each need a strong and adaptable character. But where will it come from? Surely we should have it already. The answer is that our school, although it protects and helps us while we attend, must simultaneously equip us sufficiently to take our place in the community. And I believe that our high school here at Ryde has succeeded in this respect.

Now that we reach the end of our schooling it is interesting to turn and look back over the school life we have experienced over the past years. Many of us have enjoyed rare opportunities which we may not enjoy again, for instance the opportunity to associate with, and become friends with, at least 3 different American students, and the opportunity to participate in or otherwise enjoy two Gilbert and Sullivan productions. Then there are more normal but equally important opportunities such as school socials, balls and dances; perhaps the chance to fill the responsible and privileged position of prefect; participation in groups such as the choir, orchestra and other musical groups, I.S.C.F., clubs, e.g. Chess Club, Camera Club; membership of debating teams; and of course normal sports activities. We have enjoyed annual athletics and swimming carnivals, membership of grade teams, and the chance to represent the school and to meet players from other schools, and the personal satisfaction of participating in a physical sports activity. And, of course, there is that ever-apparent realisation that we are at school to work and study. We have faced a few public examinations, as well as normal yearly, half-yearly and trial examinations, and perhaps some have even enjoyed studying and learning some of the subjects. As we progress to senior years we realise that we have to fight against our friends to achieve what we want academically. Indeed, to be able to cope satisfactorily with the pressures of study, especially in sixth form is a real and constant effort. And all of us have been able to form many real friendships with fellow students, and, especially in senior years, with teachers — friendships which have been, and will be, of great benefit to us.

There is no doubt that school has been of prime importance in our lives, and I think I am speaking for the whole of sixth form, when I say that our years at Ryde High will be years that we will always remember.

Captain's Message

This year we learn that the Government has allotted an increase of 38% on educational expenditure in the last Federal Budget. What has prompted the Government to give such a vast increase, and why has education assumed so much importance lately? Surely it cannot be said that the reason lies solely in the forthcoming elections? It is, in fact, a response to immediate pressures and a growing recognition of the value of education in modern society.

The immediate causes stem mainly from the pressure of an increased school population without a proportionate expansion of teaching facilities. The results are larger classes, fewer classrooms, a shortage of qualified teachers and a greater pressure on the school to provide facilities. Student and staff unrest has been the result of dissatisfaction with this situation. However the education system in Australia has not reached a point of crisis. Students are receiving a satisfactory education, and in New South Wales the system was modernised by the Wyndham Scheme and is under revision, and therefore it cannot be said that the methods are outmoded. Why then has this active recognition of the importance of education taken place in our society?

Firstly, it has been recognised that Australia's future progress depends on the education of the young people today. It is the duty of the school to meet the demands of society, to see that a young person is adequately educated to become a useful member of the community, and to support himself and possibly a family. Young people must not be deprived of a good education; after all, the future Einsteins, T. S. Eliots and Churchills will come from the young people of today. In addition, students should, in their high school years, begin to develop into well adjusted citizens, ready to accept responsibilities, having an awareness of both their restrictions and their liberties, and recognising their responsibilities to other people and the institutions of society.

Secondly, people are recognising that an emphasis on individual needs is important, that a certain amount of selection and specialisation must take place in school. Since these years of adolescence are the most impressionable and rapidly developing of a student's life, he must be encouraged to choose the course of studies and cultural interests which appeal to him most. These twin needs, educational and social, cannot be fulfilled without money and effort. Unless an interest is taken in the guiding of the aims of education, schools could be reduced to a low level of efficiency, producing mediocre citizens and students, instead of the best.

Having almost completed six years of my education at Ryde High School, and with the awareness that in a few weeks I shall attend it no more, I now have the chance to view this stage of my life from a more or less objective standpoint. It is possible to see now the purposes of all aspects of my education, and I can now judge their value in my particular situation. I am able to select from my knowledge, in order to take on a career of my choice, one in which I will be happy, and which will be of value. Above all, I can see that school life will have a lasting impression upon me, that when faced with a difficult situation in later life, it will invariably be what I have learnt at school that will determine my response.

This, from my point of view, is the reason for the strong emphasis being placed on education today. I see it as a matter of vital importance to society, and one in which every student is involved.

AMANDA SMALL.

THE SCHOOL BALL

A highlight of the school social year was the School Ball held on 7th August, 1969.

The recent moon landing was responsible for the celestial theme. Decorations made by Fifth and Sixth Formers, under the direction of Mrs. Bradley, were most effective and added great atmosphere to the occasion. An excellent band was hired for the night and it was agreed by all that this really made the evening.

Pleasantly surprising was the presence of Mr. Taylor, bringing back fond memories, and equally pleasant was the presence of several ex-students, nostalgia getting the better of them, no doubt.

The success of the evening was not only due to the fine band and the attendance of particular people, but also to the efforts of Miss Johnston, Mrs. Bradley, Mr. Reid and several Third Form students, who waited tirelessly on the tables. For this, thanks is in order, and we hope that next year's ball may be as successful as this was, with everyone thoroughly enjoying themselves.

LADIES' AUXILIARY REPORT

Once again we approach the end of another year, the time when we appraise our past results and set our goals for the future.

Unfortunately our 1969 Annual Fete realised a net profit of only $2,963 as compared with $4,099 for the previous year, but this resulted in less disturbance to teaching activities.

As indicated last year your Association through an active and dedicated sub-committee took over the operation of the school canteen at the commencement of the school year. With Mrs. Barrett as Manageress, assisted by many mothers, this venture has been successfully launched, earning a profit of $1,472 to the end of June on a turnover of $12,000. More important than the profit which will be wholly for the benefit of the school, is the fact that good wholesome food is available for the students. We extend our congratulations and gratitude to all concerned in this effort. However, more lady helpers are required to replenish the constant drain arising from sickness and family commitments.

Our news sheet has proved its worth in providing a better means of communication between our Association, the school and parents. Join us in the important and rewarding work of helping our children's education and so get to know your fellow parents.

With examinations approaching once again, we extend our best wishes to all students, in particular those who will be leaving school at the end of the year.

We express our appreciation for the help given to us by so many, the Principal, the Deputy Principal, the teaching and office staff, the students, the Ladies' Auxiliary, the Canteen Committee and all parents and friends.

1970 is a new year so let us all resolve to do our utmost to further the education of our children, the Australia of tomorrow.

W. ANDERSON,
Hon. Secretary.

During the past twelve months we have had many interesting functions including a "Streets Ice Cream" demonstration, "All in a Cup of Tea", a delightful morning by courtesy of the Ceylon Tea Co., a cooking demonstration entitled "Creative Cooking with Lorna Martin".

Our Annual Luncheon in September was attended by one hundred and forty people. Our official guests included Mayor and Mayoress of Ryde, Ald. and Mrs. W. Harrison; Member for Fuller, Mr. Peter Coleman and Mrs. Coleman; our P. & C. President, Ald. M. Lardelli and Mrs. Lardelli; our Principal Mr. J. McDonnell; Deputy Principal Mr. Rice; and Supervisor of the Girls' Department Mrs. Bradley. Our Guest Speaker was Matron Yvonne Crestani who has recently returned from overseas, having been awarded a scholarship by the Bank of N.S.W. to study Geriatrics abroad. Thanks to members of the School Choir who entertained us with song.

Our most recent function was a Fashion Parade by courtesy of Vanity Jane of Ryde at which members of our Auxiliary and students of Ryde High School were mannequins and lovely models they made too.

The Canteen was launched this year and is staffed by mothers of pupils under the supervision of Mrs. Barrett. We urgently need more helpers and I appeal to those mothers who are not as yet helping to get right behind this venture. Mrs. Judy Stewart (phone 85-1837) is Roster Secretary and she would welcome offers of assistance.

I cannot speak too highly of the co-operation and support given me by members of the Auxiliary, especially by Mrs. Jean McMaster, Hon. Secretary; Mrs. Joan Ross, Hon. Treas.; and our Publicity Officer Mrs. Millie Shaw.

Our Auxiliary meets the 3rd Tuesday of each month at 11 a.m. If you are not already a member — will you join us and help the P. & C. provide additional aids for our children.

GLAD PACEY,
President.

LIBRARY REPORT

The past year has been an active one for the school library as over 1,000 books have been added at an approximate cost of $3,000. Extra shelving donated by the Ladies' Auxiliary last year has been most useful. The special senior library is now well established and provides much needed research material for senior studies. Another section which has been considerably improved this year is the junior fiction section.

Library funds have been available from various sources, including generous help from the Parents and Citizens' Association.

Recess and lunch-hour borrowing continues to be heavy and pupils make use of the library before and after school for assignment work. At these times the library is under the supervision of the library assistant, Mrs. Houston, who was appointed to Ryde High in 1968.

Pupil assistants appointed to help in the library during lunch hour have been of invaluable assistance and their work is much appreciated. They are Marilyn Holt, Narelle Dimock, Margaret Ravizza, Beverley Audet, Graham Barratt, Geoffrey Barnier, Peter Campbell, Vivien Plumb and Susan Clapham.

It is hoped that in 1970 the library will continue to grow and to be used extensively by pupils for information and recreation.

B. HARVEY, Librarian.

OUR AMERICAN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Although she was only with us for ten short weeks, Diane Bandelier, our American Field Service Exchange Student for 1969, spread the warmth of her personality widely through Ryde High School. Diane hails from Northwestern High School, Kokomo, Indiana, and during her visit stayed with host student Gillian Brown. Here are some comments offered by Diane and Gillian on their experiences as "visitor" and "hostess" respectively:

Deciding to apply for an A.F.S. Scholarship was the wisest decision I have ever made. My experiences here in Australia and at Ryde High School have been so wonderful and I know I'll never forget how truly exciting and great it has been. Being in the Choir and the hockey team, going on the Snowy Mountains excursion, to the Senior Social, and to the Athletics Carnival have been only a few of the many things I've had a really good time doing.

But besides having a lot of fun, I've really learned a lot. It's amazing how much you can learn about a country by actually going there than you can out of a text book. I have learned more than just to understand the ideas and ways of life different to those I am accustomed to; I have learned to accept and value them as well. I know that now I appreciate what the U.S. is, more than when I left, but also, I have learned that my country can always improve and all countries have things they can offer the U.S.

I could never tell you how much I appreciate all that you have done for me. I still can hardly believe how understanding and kind you've all been. Special thanks to Mr. McDonnell and my teachers who have helped so much and to the whole school for making this the best two and a half months of my entire life.

Best of luck to all of you, you're just great — never change!

I think I have really started to feel like an Australian, and it is a feeling I'll never forget.

DIANE BANDELIER.

Suddenly, the house is empty; is no longer filled with that laugh "with the Yank accent" as someone described her laugh. Suddenly, the ten weeks have disappeared and neither Diane nor I can believe how quickly they have passed.

As you all know, my American sister arrived in June and at that time, it seemed that we would have so long together. I suppose it's the fact that every day, including school days, was filled with so much fun that the time flew. "Fun" seems to be the operative word for Diane's stay here. Into ten weeks she packed so many activities that I could not possibly list them all here. During her stay we managed to show her quite a varied cross-section of country in a wide radius around Sydney, as well as the local "sights." (For example, even our humble butcher's shop at Midway proved a wonder to Diane as she had never seen the like of it before).

A tour of the Snowy Mountains singing in the 700-strong massed choir at the Town Hall, a play at the historic Conservatorium, "soap-boxes" in the Domain on a Sunday, the Senior Social and many more wonderful experiences which we shared and both enjoyed immensely are all things which Diane says she will never forget.

As well as seeing things, Diane has admirably fulfilled one of the aims of A.F.S.; i.e., that the students meet people. I know there are many of you who will not forget her, even though she was here for such a short time.

Fun has been combined with learning for both of us. Both our outlooks have been broadened as well as our vocabularies, eating habits and general ways of life. Diane has discovered such delights as crumpets, which to her are "beaut" rather than "neat" now, and I have yet to muster the courage to try maple syrup on sausages for breakfast.

Through the working of A.F.S., Diane and I have been able to enjoy one of the happiest times of our lives. But not only has A.F.S. made this possible; my thanks must go to Mr. McDonnell for agreeing to have Diane here at Ryde for ten short unforgettable weeks.

GILLIAN BROWN.

SIXTH FORM FAREWELL

As at the time of printing the Farewell is still an event of the future; comment is difficult. However, it will be held on 16th October, 1969.

The theme for the evening will be in Spanish taste, which should add colour to the occasion.

With the eager preparations of staff and students the evening promises to be a great success.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES AND CLUBS

SCHOOL CHOIR

As far as the number of public performances is concerned, the School Choir does not appear to have had a very busy year. We have performed at a concert at St. Dunstan's Church in April and as part of the Choir for the Combined Secondary Schools' Choral Concert. However in both cases we were required to perform a considerable number of items so that, in effect, the choir has learned more music this year than in any of the preceding two years.

Undoubtedly the highlight of the year's work was the evening performance of the Choral Concert. Two works were performed — "Gloria" by Vivaldi and "In Windsor Forest" by Vaughan Williams. Both of these were works much larger in scope than anything we have previously attempted and this, together with the quality of performance (especially the Vaughan Williams), made taking part an experience to remember.

We made two additional appearances during Education Week when we performed for the parents on Open Day and at a concert arranged by the Department of Education at the Conservatorium. The quality of performance at the latter was considerably affected by illness.

The Choir also sang several brackets of numbers on July 24th this year when Diane Bandelier, our American Field Service Exchange student, showed slides at the Parents' and Citizens' Association Second Term General Meeting.

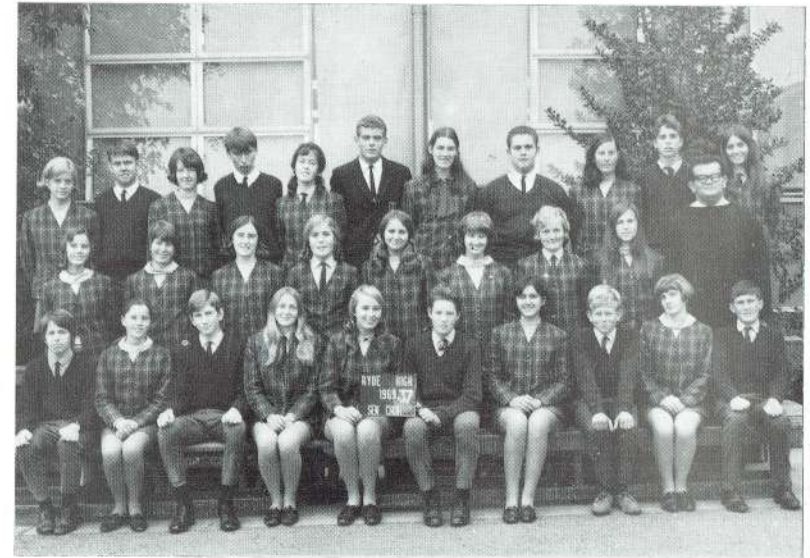

All in all it has been a satisfying year in which anticipated improvement in performance has been realised. Further experience and hard work will bring about further improvement. However the extent of this improvement can only be guessed at in a group whose members have more potential than they could possibly be aware of.

It is my sincere hope that all members have received even half the pleasure and satisfaction from participation in the choir that I have had.

QUOTA GIRL OF THE YEAR CONTEST

The school's representative in this year's competition was Susan Parry. We congratulate Susan on her selection and on her fine performance at the final judging held at "Araluen" at Epping. Girls were judged on academic and sporting achievements, personality, dress, community activities, cultural interests and public speaking. Susan's subject in the public speaking section of the contest was "Australia's Attitude to New Guinea."

We thank the Quota Club of Ryde for their generous donation of books to the School Library.

A.B.C. LITERARY AWARD

Our congratulations go to Jennifer Anderson, of 5A, who, for the second consecutive year, has won the Senior Prose Section of the A.B.C. Commonwealth Literary Awards, a competition open to the members of the Argonauts' Club. To win this prize, Jenny competed with entrants from all States of Australia and also New Guinea.

The Argonauts' Club offers guidance to members between the ages of 7 and 17 in art, music, literature and natural science. Prizes, certificates and marks are awarded for contributions, many of which are used on the air.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC REPORT

Instrumental activities have continued at Ryde High School this year. A new First Form group has commenced lessons for clarinet, violin, cello, bassoon, brass (trumpets, trombone, etc.), flute and oboe.

Many outside teachers now come to the school during lunch hours, hobby periods and after school: Mr. Stender for brass, Mrs. Wilson and Mr. St. George for clarinet, Mrs. Ayres for the flute and Mr. Noble for the bassoon.

The strings are taught by one of the music teachers, Miss Thew. Miss Thew devotes much of her spare time to teaching and encouraging these young musicians and also to managing the school orchestra, band and instrumental groups. Supervising these groups is extremely difficult, especially where finding music is concerned and when it is considered that many of the players in both band and orchestra have been playing their instruments for only a few years. Many thanks are due to Miss Thew for activity in this area of school life, as it is a very important part of the curriculum for those who take music as a special subject.

The orchestra consists of instrumentalists from Second Form upwards and the band of brass and woodwind instruments. A wind group played successfully on Anzac Day at the school ceremony.

As well as these activities groups from the school have attended a schools series of orchestral concerts given by the Sydney Symphony Orchestra at the Town Hall.

DEBATING AND ORATORY

HUME-BARBOUR DEBATING COMPETITION

The team members this year were: Phillip Andrew, Erich Beck, George Watson and Colin Hill. This year our team was quite successful, winning debates against Meadowbank Boys' High and North Ryde High. All members spoke well and demonstrated evidence of careful preparation and clear thinking. The team was most unlucky to be defeated in the final against Hunter's Hill. J. HEARN.

CRAMP DEBATING COMPETITION

This year the school team consisted of John Foulcher, John Barnard, Ray Thompson, David Jenson and Richard Sindel. After two wins against North Ryde and Meadowbank, the team was defeated by Hunter's Hill, whose team went on to win the zone competition. The team throughout the competition showed consistent improvement in debating techniques and must have our congratulations on their performance. We have here the makings of a fine Hume-Barbour team for next year.

INTER-SCHOOL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP REPORT, 1969

This could be classed a successful year for I.S.C.F. Our numbers have certainly built up and most of our activities have been well attended. We now have two groups, a senior and junior, meeting each week. Our annual houseparty in August was a great blessing to many — over 50 people attended.

So what does I.S.C.F. aim to do in school anyway? To some the idea of a fellowship within school is strange. Why not leave "religion" to Sundays? It is the opinion of those who form I.S.C.F. that a life centred around Christ cannot be restricted to certain times. Its effect must show everywhere, even at school. Christ will be the governing power over all our activities. Therefore, we have a fellowship which functions with this motto: "To know Christ and to make Him known."

We try to achieve our aims by meeting on Thursdays at lunch-time in Rooms 35 and 37, and at other times for prayer meetings, committee meetings, bible studies and more occasional group outings and night activities.

I.S.C.F. has been run to a large extent by the students themselves, with the invaluable and greatly appreciated assistance of members of staff, including Miss Cockburn, Mr. Banner, Mr. Spence, Mr. Smythe, Mr. Sparks, Miss Blakemore and others.

PHILLIP ANDREW, I.S.C.F. Leader.

TEASDALE DEBATING COMPETITION

This year Ryde again had a team from Form 4 in the Teasdale competition. This team consisted of Charles Ward, Mark McCormick, Margaret Peacock and Helen Porter. They debated against Meadowbank, North Ryde, Malvina and Riverside High Schools, but unfortunately did not score any wins.

THE E.S.U. COMPETITION

The English Speaking Union debating team was made up of senior students Anne Miller, Sandra Miller, Penny Draper and Gillian Brown, all of Form 4. Unfortunately the team was not successful in its three debates against Cremorne Girls' High, Cheltenham Girls' High and Marsden High, being narrowly defeated on all three occasions. Despite the defeats, the team benefited enormously in the field of public speaking as well as increasing its general knowledge of the topics chosen for debate.

CAREERS NIGHT

Ryde High School held its Careers Night this year on July 15th. Forty-two counsellors from many different trades and professions gathered in the Assembly Hall to chat with interested students and their parents.

The coloured signs, films and exhibits gave the hall a carnival atmosphere. As people moved about from table to table the buzz of enquiry rose. Popular tables, as usual, were the P.M.G. attractions (for boys), modelling or air hostess (girls) and Public Services, computing and science occupations for both.

Perhaps the busiest table was that giving information on University Courses and Scholarships. It was pleasing to see ex-students as counsellors at that table. Margaret Williams again represented Macquarie University; David Homel, Sydney; and Michael Petersen answered enquiries about N.S.W. University.

The Ladies' Auxiliary gave a touch of warm hospitality by offering tea and biscuits (free) to all. Thanks, ladies!

This was a very successful night as usual, but there were still some students who didn't take the opportunity of interviewing these experts. It is a pity because there is no easier way of finding out up-to-date information about all kinds of jobs than by discussing them with these representatives who come from all over Sydney especially to help you. Be there next year!

CAPTAINS' MEETINGS

This year a series of Captains' Meetings have been held for the first time. They were first suggested by the Captain of Meadowbank High School, and since April representatives from many schools in the area have been meeting about once a month at Meadowbank to discuss matters concerning high school life. Some of the schools are as far away as Strathfield and Homebush, but the bulk of them are in this district: North Ryde, Malvina, Marsden, Hunter's Hill and many more. It was originally suggested that the School Captains and Vice-Captains represent their schools at these meetings, but any 6th Form or even 5th Form students are welcome to take their place.

The purpose of these meetings is to afford an exchange of ideas concerning immediate school and community problems. On principle, no teacher is present at the meetings, except perhaps to listen to our discussions. We confer in a completely informal atmosphere, and thus we can get to know the student leaders of other schools. This is perhaps the most important aspect of these meetings, because we are in the position to forge a link between the schools of this district which may, in time, be greatly strengthened.

This year we discussed many problems, ranging from the values of the School Council system to long hair, from student radicalism to canteen provisions, from arousing school spirit to the responsibilities of the school with regard to social life. Perhaps the most important of our discussions were those concerning the School Council system, and the lack of adequate library facilities in the surrounding district.

We were fortunate because at the meeting there were some schools which functioned under a School Council system, some under a Prefect system and some possessed both, so there was a wide cross-section of principles and arguments. Descriptions of the functioning of the different School Councils were given and arguments for and against were voiced. Advantages and disadvantages could be seen in both systems, and although no system was generally voted better than the other, the importance of the discussion lay in our opportunity to apply the ideas to our own school, and to learn of methods which might cope with our particular problems.

When it came to the question of library facilities, everyone was keen to know why libraries in this area were understocked. One student investigated and it was discovered that the chief problem was not lack of finance, but an accumulating backlog of unprocessed books, and this was found to be the problem in a number of schools. One solution arrived at was to engage the assistance of willing, responsible students in their free time to help get the books onto the shelves. There are many other such problems in schools yet to be solved.

We feel these meetings are an important innovation. They are a means of voicing the opinions of students concerned with the problems of their school and community. If any changes need to be made this is certainly the way to go about it. We hope that next year these meetings will be continued and strengthened so that their influence will be more strongly and widely felt in the school and the community.

"THE WALK AGAINST WANT"

On the evening of Friday, 28th March, 1969, a group of Ryde High students set out from Australia Square, Sydney, between 6 and 9 p.m. with the aim of reaching the Westfield Plaza, Hornsby, some time before Saturday morning. The rain did not dampen our high spirits. Participants were sponsored by friends, relatives and teachers and the total raised for the "Community Aid Abroad" was over $310.00.

The theme of the walk was "How far will you go to help the hungry?" and this question was probably best answered by observing the blisters on the feet of the majority of the walkers.

MARION COTTRELL, 5A.

WALK FOR WAYSIDE REPORT

In June, 1969, thirteen hardy souls from Ryde High followed the banner on a 12-mile walk through the cesspools of the Eastern Suburbs to raise $177 for the Wayside Chapel.

Armed with heavy boots, umbrellas and other suitable weapons, the fearless thirteen braved the perils of King's Cross, Bayswater and points east and west to Hyde Park.

The team went to town by train and on arrival it began to rain. It also rained some more and a squelchy time was had by all.

As the troops stumbled in through the mists of the Archibald Fountain hot food was put on — and bing went half the profits.

Sporting steak pies, tomato sauce and coffee, thirteen footsore but triumphant walkers showed that youth can still get around on foot — once at least.

Rev. Ted Noffs of the Chapel reported that none of the walkers had fallen by the wayside, although he couldn't speak for any other part of the journey.

CHESS CLUB

Since 1962 the Ryde High Chess Club has been holding meetings on Wednesdays for interested players. In later years the meetings have been stepped up from the original once a week to twice, Monday being the other day. During these years the clubs has been kept going with the help of certain people: Mr. Mears, Ray Lassman, Rodney Seldon, Mr. Butler and the more recent president, Stuart Craig, as well as many others. However in the last two years we have had the honour to be supervised by the ex-State champion of chess, Mr. Cornford, to whom I offer, on behalf of the whole club, my sincere thanks. He has worked untiringly, setting up a chess competition for the school.

Because of the Chess Club's great growth in the past two years, the Chess Club, in 1968, had to purchase seven more sets to compensate for the growth, and now six more, making a total of 19 sets of chess pieces. Several of the members have also gone on Fridays, after school, to play members of chess clubs from other schools.

The Chess Club extends an invitation to everybody who might wish to play with the club, to join. Just come along on the aforementioned days and have fun.

4th FORM HISTORY EXCURSION TO

On June 19th the Advanced History classes of 3rd and 4th Form under the guidance of Mrs. Bradley, Mr. Kovak, Mrs. Barras and student teacher spent an enlightening day at Vacluse House.

We journeyed by bus from school at 9 a.m. and proceeded via the Cahill Expressway and King's Cross to Vacluse. On arrival at this historic building we began an enthusiastic exploration of the house which has been restored by the Neilson-Vacluse Park Trust. After lunch in the delightful grounds, we observed the vault of William Charles Wentworth in the nearby Wentworth Memorial Church in Chapel Road. We returned to school in time to attend the last two lessons, after an enjoyable and educational excursion.

RYDE HIGH CAMERA CLUB

With the arrival of Mr. Creelman at our school, several pupils interested in photography have had the opportunity to learn that this art involves more than simply pressing a little button.

With the generous gifts from the Parents and Citizens' Association, members have been able to print and process their own photographs, which provides not only additional knowledge, but also a substantial benefit to the budget of the keen photographer attending school.

SCIENCE EXCURSIONS, 1969

"Not another Science excursion?" This cry has been heard echoing through the corridors of Ryde High School this year.

The Science Department has not set out to rival certain travel agencies but has planned excursions to suitably cover aspects of the syllabus which cannot be adequately covered in the classroom. It was planned that each form should take part in two excursions through the year. The First Form classes visited the Reptile Park and the Museum of Applied Arts and Sciences. Second Form studied the animal life at McCarn's Creek and erosional features of the coastline from Mona Vale to Palm Beach. Third Form saw the animal life on the rock platform at Long Reef and then observed the geology of the Blue Mountains. Fourth Form travelled down the South Coast to Kiama and were able to see the edge of the Sydney Basin. Although each excursion entailed filling out questionnaires on what was seen, I feel that most students gained far more from their day in the field than they would have through a series of lessons on the same matter. Typical of this was the boy who discovered that rocks did not remain as rock but ultimately weathered to form clays, etc.

Next year we have planned to take a party of Fifth and Sixth Form students through Central Australia. I am sure that this trip will be an experience they will never forget nor regret.

J. SPENCE, Science Master.

NARRABRI VISIT

Following the precedent set in 1968, a number of Geography students from Ryde High were billeted by Narrabri High students in Narrabri for a few days early in May. The students from Ryde were fortunate to study the irrigated cultivation of cotton recently developed in the Namoi Valley. They visited the local cotton gin, a wheat-sheep farm and also the Wheat Research Foundation.

In the midst of the very busy itinerary arranged by Mr. S. Greenland, of Narrabri High School, they experienced a display of aerial gymnastics performed by a local "spray-pilot." They left convinced that defoliating cotton requires a certain amount of skill on the part of a pilot.

The visit reached a lofty climax in the mountains to the east of Narrabri. Rain, fog, cold, a brief hike in the pungent eucalypt forest and a bogged bus completed the itinerary.

The visit proved rather strenuous and the steady hum of the diesel, the warm sun and the passing scenery proved too much for the previously alert group of students on the trip home.

GEOLOGY EXCURSION TO WARRUMBUNGLE NATIONAL PARK (24th-27th April)

Early on the 24th April, 44 Fifth and Sixth Formers and two teachers arrived at school, eager to be off on their "week-end away from it all." Few knew what lay ahead, but judging by the luggage, it seemed like a six-month journey to the unknown.

Three hundred miles and 12 hours later, we arrived at the park for a late tea and commenced our sample of life in a disused tram. The climax to the first day was the discovery of "our very own ghost." To those who are disbelievers I can only say, "Ghosts exist. I saw one!"

Next morning, bubbling with energy and enthusiasm, we started climbing. We climbed all day — up Grand High Tops to overlook the Breadknife, then down a slight depression for lunch, then up even further to the top of Bluff Mountain — still the scenery was good! Never to be found lacking, Mr. Banner kept us amused by initiating a full-scale battle with that fiendish weapon — water! To be just, he did deny all knowledge of the origins of this battle royal — but we know. Back at camp, Chief Surgeon Creelman was in demand to administer to the needs of sadly abused feet — ouch, those blisters!

The following morning, slightly less exuberant, but undaunted, we staunchly faced another gruelling hike. Mt. Exmouth is every inch as high as Bluff. Part way up this climb, however, there was a resting place where Miss Biggs and her supporters could rest their weary feet and drown their sorrows in water and lunch — "eat and be merry for to-morrow we die." The rest of us with "more brawn than brain" continued the climb to the summit.

Refreshed by sleep, around nine, Mr. Banner was heard marshalling troops to study the ecology of a freshwater stream (they flocked from showers, breakfast and bed) — this did seem a silly idea on a science excursion. At 11.30, we managed to tear ourselves from our bush paradise, to return to civilisation. However, we were not home yet. It seems the bus wanted to complete our week-end. Stranded late at night six miles from the nearest town, we waited for our relief bus to come from Sydney. I cannot say if anything else happened as I only came to when we arrived at school about 2.30 a.m.

If you are contemplating braving this ordeal in 1970 I can only recommend:—

1. Follow Julie Taylor's sound advice of last year.
2. Remember it is UP, ever up.
3. Destroy Mr. Banner's camera at your first opportunity. It is the camera that does not lie.
4. Have a great time — it's an experience you'll never forget.

Oh yes! Thank you Miss Biggs, Mr. Banner, Mr. Creelman and Tom (our bus driver). In spite of the hardship we really had fun and would go again if you asked up (this is not a hint).

Thank you too, Mr. and Mrs. Collins for bearing our company (exuberance has by now fully recovered) on the occasion of our reunion.

SNOWY MOUNTAINS EXCURSION

Some time after 11 p.m. on Friday, 1st August, 44 heavily clothed hopefuls took off in search of snow. Parkas, furry boots, mittens, sun glasses and Geography note books were what the fashion conscious equipped themselves with. By the time we reached Cooma our group was somewhat jaded; however, not to be discouraged, a hearty breakfast, an entertaining tour of Cooma and an interesting film on the Snowy Mountains Scheme, stimulated all but the most puny of appetites for further geographic experiences.

Sunday saw the group trudging up the steep grade through icy rain to the Yarangobilly Caves to the north-west of Kiandra. The hungry members of the group were alarmed at the prospect of starvation since the rain had drowned any ideas of a barbecue lunch. It was decided that we should try to make Kiandra and purchase some sandwiches for lunch.

As the bus struggled up the mountains towards Kiandra, a strange silence overcame the group. Eyes were focused on the front windows of the bus. There were hurried whispers, a few whoops of delight, and at last our goal had been reached. Our prayers of the night before had been answered; it was snowing!

Ten inches of snow, snowball fights ad infinitum, a forgotten lunch, an afternoon tobogganing, a cut leg, a slippery drive on icy roads, an enormous chicken dinner, a birthday chant and a quiet evening spent lounging in the reception room saw the group retire thankfully to bed.

Monday morning proved that Lake Eucumbene is definitely too cold to swim in. Kiandra saw our bus return and the toboggan run being extended to allow increasingly daring exploits on one and two-man machines.

Homeward bound at noon, the bus thundered down the slopes and dinner was expertly served by an agile waiter. A strained excitement developed within the group. What would happen at Providence? A challenge had been issued! Could it be met? This was their last chance! Could the boys get changed and packed more quickly than the girls?

Four o'clock saw us departing from Cooma and heading back to Sydney via Canberra.

SIXTY SECONDS TO GO

I stared blankly at my half-filled page and reviewed the Composition Examination disconsolately. I glanced at the clock and to my horror, discovered that there were only five minutes left.

In a frenzied panic I skipped through what I had already written, but words to express myself failed me. Ah! I remember! Hastily I began to continue with this ghastly torture. Two minutes left! Oh, something must come to my thoughtless brain if I were to finish in time. Many children were either quietly reading or checking their work. How I wished I were in that group!

I was all for giving things up for good but my guilty conscience urged me on. Nearly done now, but time was my closest opponent. Tears of despair pricked my eyelids but with a brisk movement of my hand I shamefully brushed them away.

"Time is almost up." Oh, do not say it's true! But it unfortunately was and only sixty seconds to go. I wrote furiously, disregarding the scribbly mess I was successfully making.

Time had defeated me. The buzzer sounded and a few wails of dismay echoed around me, but I, too forlorn and beaten by time, just sat. CHRISTINE HAFEY, 1A.

FROM A TRAIN

The eternal towers to man's memory of his first days

Point, prod and claw
Their way up to the land of forgiven souls.
The pinpoints
To the memory of an age
Not yet past,
Parallel the twin steel scars which meet at infinity.

Those subjects of our society,
Sit in their stereotyped boxes and do not live,
Merely exist;
Whilst an alien being,
Dubbed human,
Forces its mechanical, metal, murder, machine
Along a thin racialist line
Embossed with superior stripes.

The celluloid cinemas and Naked theatres
Bulge out between cardboard and tin shops,
Proclaiming their divine message;
Whilst this fabricated facade
Called
A city,
Continues
To spread its corrupting tentacles
And devour
That beautiful wilderness
Created at Infinity.

THE ALLEY CAT

The alley cat is filthy
As he prowls down his alley
Knocking over dustbins, leaving
A trail of fish skeletons behind.
With his rib-bones protruding
Like an extra set of teeth.
And the smell of rotten prawns
Embedded in his breath.

A WALK ON A WINTRY DAY

The penetrating wind stung my face as I started my long hard trek of two miles to school. I gazed at the fluffy white blanket of snow surrounding me.

I saw many fingers of ice extended from the bare branches of the trees and as the sun sent its rays down they shimmered like crystals. I stood still, my mouth gaping in amazement and stared at the sheet of solid, gleaming ice, the waterfall. It was beautiful.

As I neared the town I noticed that the snow was turning a dirty grey and I knew the neighbourhood was alive and bustling with eager shoppers, children and workers. I noticed many snowmen with their hats cocked precariously on their over-large heads. The younger children were fighting valiantly in a snow fight and I thought wistfully about having to go to school instead of tumbling in the snow.

I plodded on, taking in all the scenery and nature in one big gulp of wonder. The spiders' delicate cob-webs glistened as the sun peeped timidly through the clouds in a struggling effort to beat the wind.

Yells of surprise informed me that a huge snow battle was in progress at the school nearby and I hastened my steps so I could join in the rousing fun. More wonders lay before me to see and admire but not just now as I was hit by a well aimed snowball and I joined in with my friends after an inspiring walk to school viewing all nature's beauty.

EMUS

Emus will eat anything,
From small plastic floats
To tin plated boats,
From harbed-wire catches
To thrown out safety-matches
It's a wonder the emu, with such a slim neck
Can push it all down in one small peck.

BIAFRA AND WORLD FAMINE

"For God's sake airlift more baby food immediately. Thousands of children dying daily. Situation appalling."

These words were part of a telegram from a missionary in Biafra, appealing for more aid to assist the besieged territory in Nigeria.

Throughout the world civil aid groups and churches are collecting money and food for Biafra while the leaders of the warring groups sit and argue. The Federal Government of Nigeria refuses to allow the territory of Biafra to leave the Nigerian Federation and the leaders of the secessionists are just as adamant that they will not remain with Nigeria. While the arguments continue, Biafra is rapidly dying of starvation. Nigerian jets shoot down every aircraft which tries to enter Biafra and even International Red Cross aircraft have not been excluded from attack. Federal Nigerian troops surround the territory held by the Biafrans and are reducing it slowly every day. Within the territory, missionaries estimate that 6,000 children are dying every day from starvation and disease. This is despite the fact that thousands of tons of relief supplies are waiting at airports and ports near Nigeria, but the Nigerians will not allow the supplies to be shipped to the Biafrans, unless mercy planes are prepared to take the risk of being shot down.

This is the distressing situation prevailing in Biafra. A small country being literally annihilated by its enemies, not necessarily with arms, but by sheer acts of inhumanity. It is a common sight to see a lifeless body of a young child in the street; his hair rotting, his bones protruding noticeably from under his decaying skin and his spleen bloated like a large balloon. It is depressing that children must be subject to such conditions in a war such as this. However, in a time of crisis all must suffer. The adults are sturdier and will possess life slightly longer. With the present generation dwindling and the future generation almost non-existent, it is certain that the Biafrans will cease to exist as a race unless the urgent help which is greatly necessitated is supplied.

In general the prospects of famine are plain. The Australian Freedom from Hunger Campaign, conducted in October of last year, raised approximately $900,000 to help millions of people who are dying from starvation and poverty diseases; diseases brought about by malnutrition. During the past five years the public's most generous response has raised $5.5 million, roughly the cost of one of Australia's new F-111 aircraft or one-fifteenth the cost of the Sydney Opera House, both of which have proved to be controversial topics. In the U.S., Americans have raised $10 million in three years for famine relief. However, this is compared with the National Aeronautical Space Administration's complex space programme which has drained the purses of American citizens for 200 billion dollars to finance their Apollo probe. Lately, since the lunar missions have finally reached an orbit of the moon, much speculation has been cast upon the fangled Lunar Module — 10 million dollars worth of vital equipment which, after brief usage, is cast away in a self-destructive orbit around the sun. The achievements of the Apollo Mission are labelled as a step toward an assistance to mankind as well as creating peace and bondage throughout the nations of the world. In my opinion the insistence of man to delve into space is redundant when a crisis such as Biafra exists on earth.

Measured by these standards it is clear that few Australians, Americans and people of the world in general really appreciate the seriousness of the world's food problems. Nor do we fully understand the poverty and inadequate nutrition under which two-thirds of the world's people somehow manage to sustain life. Unless the technically advanced countries, such as the U.S. and Australia, come to grips with this mounting food crisis, our children will live in a world in which famine is commonplace. Can we really afford to wait for the barbaric disorder that will surely result, as rich nations grow richer, and the poorer nations reel under the pressures of exploding populations and dwindling food supplies?

DEDICATED TO THE MUSICIAN

To see a prominent Ryde High musician throw a javelin is a sight one should not miss. She PAUSES a MINUET before aiming and then with a SUITE AIR she takes a few steps forward. She always LISZTS to the right so as to ensure PERFECT aim. Her style is unique and I am sure every ORGAN of her body feels the pain when the FINALE thrust is made. Yesterday she hit the BACH of a tree instead of CHOPIN up the grass. This was a MAJOR change in her style, and this FINAL MOVEMENT has been the KEY to her TREBLING her original SCORE.

A BUSH FIRE

The sun rose like a ball of fire and blazed down on a parched and arid countryside. People and animals moved wearily and slowly after a night of unrelieved heat. The brazen cloudless sky gave no sign of hope or respite from the overpowering heat.

A lone motorist, weary and exhausted like the animals, stopped by the roadside for a cold drink and a cigarette. When he had finished, without thinking, he threw his cigarette onto the roadside and proceeded on his journey.

Alas! The lighted cigarette had fallen on some tinder dry leaves which, in a few seconds, began to smoulder. A hot gust of wind blew one of the sparks into the dry grass and the horrors of the bushfire began. Soon the undergrowth was burning fiercely and the flames stretched their shining hands up to the tree tops.

Animals and birds, half-crazed with the heat and fear, fled as the bush burst into flames which spread with startling swiftness devouring everything before them. All the beauties of the bush were forgotten as the fire raged on its way, leaving remains behind.

Hundreds of people rushed to the scene and tried their best to stop the fire from spreading, but unfortunately, the strong westerly that was blowing drove the flames higher and many of the volunteer fire-fighters were overcome by the intense heat and smoke.

A short while later there seemed to be a change in the wind and everybody glanced towards the sky as if in silent prayer, for they all knew that their only hope was rain.

Suddenly there was a peal of thunder and a few drops of rain splashed on the fire. Soon it was coming down in torrents and the jubilant, but weary, fighters ran for shelter as the once raging fire died down and not a spark was to be seen anywhere.

A QUESTION

Now our last, but greatest challenge
Is the eternal and boundless universe,
Which is but a vast, empty vessel
With molecules that neither part nor disperse
Into the everlasting night.

These stars so bright
Are really only molecules of an eternal gas
That reaches into infinity.

But without these globes of light
Which are even more impressive than the greatest sight
Where would we be with no last, great conquest

To drive us on into eternity?
Would we be but living morons on our home earth?

. . . or the masters of the universe?

THINGS I LIKE

I like fresh fragrance
And early morning dew,
The smell of fresh bread
And love that is true.
The smell of toothpaste
And playing card games.
A very new friendship
And old-fashioned names,
I love heavy rings
And long graceful hands,
Feminine things
And a stretch of white sands.
I love large brown eyes
And at natural girl
Long shiny hair,
And a real, new pearl.
The tilt of a swan,
The beach in the night,
The sound of a storm
And the pale moon-light.

THE MOON

Urged on by his insatiable curiosity, man has, since the beginning of time, wanted to explore his surroundings. Unable to understand so many of nature's mysteries, early men established legends and divinities to explain and account for the secrets which bewildered them.

The moon was one of the first marvels to puzzle man. The early Greeks worshipped the goddess Selene, who it was said, "illuminated the shadowy night" with her golden crown, as she "emerged from the ocean in splendid robes and rose in the sky" as night fell.

But no longer are such fantasies believed by man. Through ceaseless work, determined men have unveiled the moon's mysteries. Men have devoted their lives to space research. Men have died while attempting to make unprecedented journeys into the unknown void of space.

And now, all man's efforts have culminated, and the first man has walked on the moon's surface. It is a victory for mankind. The greatest victory of all time! Man has conquered his neighbour, the moon.

However, as Sir Winston Churchill said of the Battle of El Alamein — "This is not the end. It is not even the beginning of the end. But it is perhaps the end of the beginning." The moon is simply a stepping stone to the fascinating universe beyond. In time, man will conquer the sun, and Venus and Pluto and the other planets in our solar system, but beyond these lie other worlds. Yet before this must come peace — peace in our own world — with one unified body to strive for the one goal.

LUNAR LIFE

Many years had passed since the first lunar module touched down on the moon;
and the colony had thrived.
Decades after earth had exploded,
the people forgot with each generation, and not a soul knew how he had arrived.

Adaptions were made: life without water, oxygen, gravity, extremes of temperatures endured;
food and shelter were provided.
The moon had its explorers, gods and heroes, lunar trains and planes made life a comfort, but revolution took place: the moon was divided.

Crime, wars and famine ravaged the moon; some nations were rich others poor; but all would soon be reduced to dust by the bomb.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION REPORT '69

Once again the success of girls' sports teams has been because of each group's enthusiastic co-operation and willingness to work hard throughout the season.

In both the swimming and athletics carnivals it was noticeable that students from first to sixth form were prepared to compete for their house or school and their combined efforts enabled them to finish second in the girls' point score in the Zone Swimming Carnivals and win the girls' point score at the Athletics. Perhaps the outstanding effort was that of the relay teams at the Zone Athletics which resulted in two wins, two seconds and a third in six races. Congratulations girls.

Coaches of grade teams have had a most difficult task selecting teams and have always had plenty of volunteers to choose from when players have had to be replaced because of illness during the year.

First form students have been a particularly enthusiastic group and have thoroughly enjoyed the inter-school matches played during second and third terms.

GRADE SPORT

Basketball:

Four Open and four junior teams played inter-school matches each week during the winter season. The four senior teams did not reach the standard expected. However, their matches were always played with good sportsmanship and the girls hope for better results next year.

The four basketball teams are to be congratulated on the improvement in their play during the season. Congratulations to the A,

The moon built space ships,
Two peoples raced for Venus but one reached there first and transported some people.

THE MOON — JUNE '68

The moon 'twas thought a lump of cheese,
But all our dreams are shattered
For on 20th July next if you please
As if nothing else mattered,
We are hurtling three men into space
To explore that mystic planet,
To bring back samples and to trace
Its history, and to scan it.

But wouldn't it be something if
After all their trouble,
They discovered that the moon was cheese;
Oh wouldn't that burst their bubble!

SHARON CALETTI, 2A.

B and C Grade teams which won their division premierships and to all four teams for winning the Zone Junior Basketball Trophy.

Hockey:

The popularity of Hockey as a major sport in the Zone forced us to add a second junior team to the grade competitions in 1969.

Our Open A and B teams moved up from the junior ranks for the first time but found the opposition too strong in this their first year in Open company. The individual team scores improved each match and I feel sure that the experience gained in 1969 will make them much stronger teams next year.

The junior A team had some very close games and at times were unlucky to be beaten in their matches. The junior B team had played together in form 1 in 1968 and their enthusiasm and aggressive play enabled them to win the Junior B Hockey Premiership this year.

I feel that the experience gained by the Hockey players in 1969 will prove worthwhile and will be the means of our yielding much stronger teams in 1970.

Softball:

Once again two open and two junior teams were fielded each week. The Open A Grade team and the Junior A Grade improved rapidly during the season and both finished as runners-up to Chatswood and Marsden for the premierships in their respective divisions.

Open B and Junior B teams thoroughly enjoyed their outings and were very pleasant hostesses when matches were played on Ryde home grounds.

Tennis:

Both the Open and Junior teams are to be congratulated on completing their matches without being defeated and thus winning their division premierships. Both the trophies have resided in the Ryde Trophy case since 1966. Congratulations to the girls in these teams.

Volleyball:

Team members ranged from second to sixth formers and all girls approached this relatively new sport with enthusiasm and enjoyment. Congratulations to the C Grade team which won their division of this competition.

Summer Softball:

These teams were mostly second and third form students who found the opposition in many cases too strong. However the improved scores in the second round indicated that their standard of play had improved greatly.

Congratulations to all girls who have worked hard and specially to those who have won premierships in their respective sports.

In conclusion I would like to thank all members of staff who have so enthusiastically assisted with girls' sports activities during 1969.

BOYS' SPORT 1969

This year Chatswood High School re-entered the Zone and more than made its presence felt. Our teams, however, were not disgraced and the summer teams acquitted themselves well in Cricket, Tennis, Volley Ball and Water Polo. Non-grade summer sports provided opportunity for furthering skills in golf and squash.

The highlight of the winter competition was the annual Ex-students vs. the Schools first grade Union team. The "Old Boys" won an exciting match with a team containing several first grade players. Mr. Clarke, Mr. Woods and a former P.E. teacher on the staff, Mr. Flanders, gave considerable support to the School XV. Our thanks to Mr. Bob Wood for refereeing the match. Much interest was provided by the guest appearance of Tommy Bishop (former captain of Britain's League Team — now Captain-Coach of Cronulla) who not only kicked off to start the match but very obligingly signed countless autographs. Our thanks to Arthur Chapman's Sports Store for making the visit possible.

The staff teams proved far too "skilled" for the students in Basketball and Softball. These matches were played before packed stands towards the end of second term.

During the winter competition Ryde finished 3rd in overall points from many fine wins in Rugby Union, Soccer and Baseball.

We are grateful to Grace Bros. for their generosity in presenting the 1st Cricket XI with a set of very fine caps and also for the presentation of badges to the 1st XV.

Congratulations boys on some outstanding performances and for giving up so much of your time for training and practice! Many thanks go to the staff members who coached and guided teams, both House and Grade, throughout the year. Next year — "Ryde High to win".

J. REID.

Open Baseball

Once again the Open Baseball Team performed exceptionally well, winning the competition for the second year in succession. The team was most capably led by Alan Gilbert who was also the teams No. 1 pitcher. Good performances were given by the Robinson boys, Paul and Greg, and by Stephen Elliott. Newcomers to the team, Robert Krahe and Alan Norman show promise.

First Grade Basketball

Ably captained by Emanuel Arapidis, the first grade basketballers proved themselves formidable opposition to all teams, eventually coming third in the competition.

Newcomers Ian Watson, Ron Stinson, David Williams and Peter Shaw combined well with the "old brigade" of Dale Campbell and Tom Cooper to display fast, creative basketball.

The future for next year with present second grade players, most notably John Foulcher, should prove very bright and interesting.

15A Basketball

A most successful season with only one defeat, sustained. The quality of the play has been of a very high standard and this observation was convincingly illustrated in the fast, high scoring match which was played at the close of the season between the squad and Mr. Cleary's B Open Grade team. The squad has enjoyed the skill and abilities of several promising individuals:

Grego Bros. — a fierce and beneficial pair;
Paul Sexton — a guiding spirit;
David Jolly — unpredictable but accurate;
Ian Samson and Keith Vince — stalwarts in defence.

Unfortunately the team spirit was slow to develop but eventually a combination of team work and individual performance eventuated a triumphant season.

House Basketball, 1969

During 1969 the House Basketball players were organised into a competition. There were four teams, each having three grades.

Having a competition made the afternoons a lot more interesting to all and the general standard of basketball improved over the season, especially with the C Graders.

The results of the 1969 competition were:

- 1st with 69 points: The Kreeleman.
- 2nd with 54 points: Wheels.
- 3rd with 34 points: Globetrotters.
- 4th with 20 points: Icabod Cranes.

Many thanks go to the senior players who acted as captains of the teams, and who were always willing to umpire matches.

1st Grade Cricket

The team has had a most successful season to date, being ably led by Alan Gilbert. Alan has been the main stay of the batting and in one game had a very useful spell of spin bowling. Noel McMaster has been a good all-rounder having good averages at batting and bowling. Ron Halse has been the spear head of the bowling attack, achieving very good results. Every player has shown a grown-up approach to the game and very little has been given away or let slip. It would be impossible to leave unmentioned the relaxing good humour brought into the game by sportsman Terry Neville.

15B Cricket

Outright wins in all matches to date place the 15B Cricketers in a commanding position in their competition.

Captained by John McGrath the team's batting performance was led by Graeme Phillip, Stephen Higgins, Richard Connor and John Byrnes. Excellent all round play with good bowling averages were given by David Grant, Bill Rankin and Anthony Dehlsen.

14B Cricket

A mixed season with several poor performances and several highly exciting matches. The quality of the play has also been mixed with several factors such as weather, the quality of the pitch and the competitive spirit of the opposition — determining the outcome of the play. The most able individuals were:

Stewart: A most able batsman and medium pace bowler.
Ewings: A most effective spin bowler.
Smith: A consistent hard hitting batsman

It is a pity that the team lacked a highly competitive and determined spirit in their matches, although sometimes these qualities were felt in several exciting games.

15B Volleyball

The 1969 Summer Sport Season saw many boys trying their hand at 'new' activities. One such activity was volley ball. While this game was new to some, it certainly didn't take the players long to master some of the basic principles and even more importantly develop a real team spirit. It is with this team spirit and enthusiasm for the game that the 15B Volleyball team played other teams in the competition so successfully.

1st Grade Rugby

Team: A. Sinclair, M. Manefield, F. Elwin, G. Hill, G. Place, R. Sincel, R. Coles, M. Keith, B. Dayman, C. Sanders, G. Clifford, G. Byrom, R. Overall, D. Clifford, H. Graham, I. Gordon.

While winning less than a fair share of games, the Ryde XV still had its best season for some years (if only because no one scored 30 points against us in a game). The backs proved themselves capable of playing constructive football and of scoring tries. However, the forwards lacked the experience and the size to consistently gain a reasonable share of the ball.

The most consistent players were: Manefield, Sanders, Elwin, Keith and Gordon and four of these along with four or five others will be back next year.

Our congratulations to the Premiers and my thanks to all teachers and team members who helped to make this season so enjoyable.

1st Grade Soccer

The 1969 1st Grade Soccer team met with mixed success throughout the season, finishing an overall third in the competition, despite the constant determination of all players concerned.

A fine example of this team spirit was displayed in the 1st round of the "Tasman Cup", when Ryde defeated Turramurra South but we were unlucky to be eliminated from this competition, suffering defeat by Balgollah of the slim margin of 2:1 in the second round.

I feel that throughout the season all players were outstanding and to mention the individual stars would be to name the entire team.

15A Soccer

With a little more serious effort the team could have had a very good season. They were successful in defeating all but one team but in the second round too many games were allowed to become drawn. The team showed a lot of good football ability and now need to concentrate on attitude and approach. David Glasson captained the side ably and Mark Dalziel in goal showed amazing reflexes in making many fine saves.

15B Soccer

A very good season being again Zone champions and managing to retain an unbeaten record from the previous year. A good team spirit has prevailed throughout the season and every member of the team must be given credit for this fine effort.

14A and B Soccer

Both teams had a very successful season. Each team lost only one game and finished as Zone premiers. In the 14A team, I. Beaton, G. Dando and H. Adams played consistently well throughout the season. W. Casey was the most improved player. I. Vince was the star of the 14B team with A. Long, J. Macri and J. Barbara as consistently good players. G. Stewart and R. Peacock showed great improvement during the season.

FIRST FORM SPORTSummer:

First form sport was divided into two groups — one playing cricket and the other playing water polo and learning water safety and life-saving at Ryde Pool. The cricketers spent most of their time learning the different skills and ended the season with some games against other high schools.

Winter:

Both Rugby and Soccer were played for most of the season — the boys were given a free choice. After 4 weeks of skills practices and trial matches, four soccer teams and three rugby were selected and games were played against North Ryde, Marsden and Malvina. The A Soccer were most successful having gone through the season undefeated.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENTSPeter Tetlow, 3C:

Peter was chosen along with 17 other N.S.W. swimmers (8 boys and 8 girls) to tour New Zealand during the September holidays. The team was chosen by their performances in the N.S.W. Winter Championships held at Hurstville Indoor Pool.

The tour was to Christchurch, Wellington, Hamilton and Auckland. The whole team performed well in the 7 carnivals of the tour, winning 147 out of a possible 154 races, but all were tired after 10 days of fun and work.

Congratulations to Peter for setting a new New Zealand age group record in the 200 m. Backstroke (2 min. 24.3 secs.).

Stephen Glease, 3A:

Stephen was the school's only representative in the C.H.S. Sailing Championships held on Lake Macquarie at Belmont 16-footer Sailing Club.

The invitation race was held on Sunday, 11th May in a good breeze in which every boat finished the 12 mile course. On Monday and Tuesday, 12th and 13th May the first point score was held. On Wednesday two excursions were arranged to Vales Point Power House or to a Coal Mine. There was a third race on Thursday and as in Monday's and Tuesday's races there was no wind and the race was shortened to 2 laps. Friday however supplied a Southerly Buster of about 30-40 knots and consequently there were many capsizes and broken gear. Also enjoyed by all was a barbecue at Lake Macquarie Yacht Club. The eventual winner out of the 150 boats was a boy from Belmont in an International Star.

Congratulations to Stephen for finishing 11th in the overall point score!

SWIMMING CARNIVALS 1969

School Carnival

Despite the usual wet weather, the carnival was a great success. However the spirits of the enthusiastic onlookers and cheer squads were not dampened and the competitors were not hindered from breaking many of the records.

Congratulations to all the boys and girls who participated, particularly to those in Goulding House, which after some close competition managed to win.

Final House Points:

Zone Carnival, 1969

This year's Zone Carnival was held over two days, the first being at Ryde Olympic Pool on Tuesday, 4th March. The remainder of the carnival was held at North Sydney Olympic Pool on the following Thursday. The attendance of the whole school at this carnival gave added encouragement to our competitors who managed to gain enough points to come second against strong opposition.

ATHLETICS CARNIVALS, 1969

The School Carnival was held on the afternoon of Tuesday 22nd and the whole day of Wednesday, 23rd of July. Most students attended enthusiastically and despite gale-force winds and the bitter cold, the carnival was a success in regard to individual performances.

Many thanks to the students and staff who braved the weather and acted as officials at our carnival.

Congratulations to the Division Championship winners, who are as follows:—
Senior Girls: Robyn McWhinney.
Junior Girls: Christine Pearce.
Sub-Junior Girls: Anne Newman.
Senior Boys: Peter Shaw and Frank Elwin.
Junior Boys: Gregory Hancock.
Sub-Junior Boys: Gregory Franklin.

The Zone Athletics Carnival was held at North Sydney Oval on the 12th and 13th of August. This year Chatswood was again included in our zone after having been out for two years, and this resulted in more keen competition.

The Tug-o'-War was possibly the most keenly contested event of the carnival. However, the Ryde team was narrowly defeated after a worthy struggle.

Congratulations to all Ryde competitors for their individual performances at the carnival. The girls' team won the Overall Girls' Point Score and the Ryde team finished third in the carnival. Throughout, all members displayed a never-waning enthusiasm and team spirit, which carried them on to the end. Many thanks to you all for your co-operation.
